3D2CR CONWAY REEF DXPEDITION NEWS (Rebel DX Group Update). The 3D2CR Rebel DX Group left for Conway Reef on May 29th, and are now active as of June 1st. It was also reported on May 25th, that this is "first of 4 destinations in the Pacific." Their catamaran is anchored 500m offshore and a video was posted on YouTube:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QSJkwQVYMU8

Activity has been on 40/30/20/17 meters using CW, SSB and FT8.

Wayne, N0UN, posted the following on June 1st, the Rebel DX Group Web page (https://www.rebeldxgroup.com/): 3D2CR Conway Reef On The Air! --

The Rebels have broken through the weather jinx that's been following us around for months and months — 3D2CR Conway Reef is on the air!

We made it half way there before the Rebel catamaran and crew got turned around by the weather last week, but we're persistent (to say the least) and that persistence has paid off.

If you wish, send your recordings to (admin@rebeldxgroup.com) and before the first stop of our Pacific DXpedition is over we'll post them on this site for all to hear.

QSL info and the ClubLog online log links are posted here:

https://www.rebeldxgroup.com/qsl-online-log-info/

See you in the pileups!

It is also recommended to watch both the 3D2CR (Conway Reef) and T33T (Banaba Island) on the QRZ.com Web pages and the Rebel DX Groups FaceBook page (https://www.facebook.com/rebeldxgroup/) for updates as well as the 3Z9DX tracker:

CQ NEWS (Press Release, dated May 29th -- Brian Bird, NX0X, Named CQ USA-Counties Award Custodian). Brian Bird, NX0X, of Duluth, Minnesota, has been named the new Custodian for CQ magazine's USA-Counties Award (USA-CA), effective June 1, 2019, CQ Editor Rich Moseson, W2VU, announced today. Brian succeeds Ted Melinosky, K1BV, who served as USA-CA Custodian and CQ Awards Editor for 21 years. Several updates in the USA-CA award rules will take effect at the same time.

Brian has been a county hunter since the 1990s and earned the USA-CA All Counties Award in 2004, followed a year later by his wife, Shari, KB0MHH. The two of them hosted the national county-hunters' convention in 2011. Brian is an airline pilot who splits his time each month between flying and working in his airline's training center.

"I am looking forward to working with Brian as he assumes the leadership of one of the most challenging award programs in all of amateur radio," noted CQ Editor Rich Moseson, W2VU. "With 3077 counties in the United States, working 'the whole ball of wax' takes a great deal of dedication and perseverance. Administering the award takes a special commitment, as well. Brian will be only the sixth USA-CA Custodian in the award's 58-year history."

"I am very honored to being selected as your new USA-CA award custodian," noted NX0X. "I'm looking forward to carrying on with the great history of the awards program and any challenges ahead. Part of being the USA-CA award custodian is to not only handle the issuing of awards that have been earned in a timely manner, but giving you the public recognition so rightly deserved for earning such a prestigious award. I can only hope that I serve you all with the same great service of my predecessors. Hoping that many new counties for you are just up the band."

The rules updates primarily reflect the realities of living in the 21st century, such as replacing International Reply Coupons as a payment method with PayPal; and permitting (encouraging) applications to be submitted by e-mail rather than only on paper. Also, due to significant increases in the cost of international postage, it is necessary for us to add a DX postage surcharge for mailing certificates to addresses outside the United States. The complete updated rules appear in CQ's June 2019 Awards column and will be posted as soon as possible after June 1st on the CQ website at .

As of June 1, any correspondence relating to the CQ USA-CA program should be directed to: Brian Bird, NX0X, 4567 Caribou Lake Road, Duluth, MN 55811-9607, USA; or via e-mail to .
